

LAGREIN FLOCKS

LAGREIN FLOCKS TRENTO DOC Greggi summarizes the desire to make a red hill wine through the search for elegance but with a strong fruity and fragrant component. The roots of the Lagrein vineyards sink into different types of soil, carefully selected, which generously give different characteristics to the grapes. Complementary characters capable of creating an extraordinary balance. The warmth and softness of the light soils of Sorni are combined with the more vertical and deep character of the clayey and heavy soils of Pressano. The ability to find harmony of these different components is extraordinary and the result is an important, decisive and exciting Lagrein.
